Michael Pesce, Assistant Dean of Students, Assistant Residence Hall Director, English Teacher

Mike is a graduate of the highly selective Boston College, he taught English in China for two years and is very familiar with the educational philosophies needed to get the most out of a student where English is not their first language.

"I spend a lot of time with students. I see them every moment of the day because I am a member of the dorm staff, an academic teacher and an extra-curricular coach. You get to build a bond with the students that you would not normally get in a traditional educational environment. This means the students practice their English in a natural environment, not just in a classroom."

Our preparation is in-depth and covers everything from the test scores they need, self-promotional essay writing and the curricular to extra-curricular requirements. This is a long term process so we get students to start thinking about college early”*

Cora Lee Sharp, American

"I like the small classes at CATS Academy because you get more attention from the teachers. A few days ago I needed help with my Math homework and Mr Egan came in and helped me after school, and afterwards I understood it a lot better.

My teachers at my old school never used to do that. Here, you get personalised assistance"

Bernardo Martins, Brazilian

“I enjoy the student life here because we do lots of fun activities when we are not studying. The teachers and dorm staff are really nice, they take care of me and they are my friends.”

There is a lot support for you if you have problems. I was nervous about a test but they sat me down and reassured me. I can ask my teachers anything and they are always there for you in your free periods, in your dorm, or you can even email them with your questions.”

Ruilin Wang, Chinese

“At CATS Academy, the teachers like you to be creative. In China, the teachers would just write everything on the board. Here the teachers use the board and textbooks and they ask for your opinion so we have space to think about things for ourselves. I like this style of learning.”

Maksym Shulik, Ukranian

“US colleges and universities pay a lot of attention to your sports abilities. CATS Academy gives me a lot of extra-curricular activities to choose from. I have chosen soccer, I am also using the gymnasium so I can increase my physical abilities. Other options include Swimming, Basketball and community service.

CATS Academy is helping me become a well-rounded person for when I apply to college.”

Trung Vu Le, Vietnamese

“Sarah, the College Advisor, has been helping me prepare for College applications by assisting me in writing self-promotional essays. It’s different to an academic essay because it must be compact and precise.

She has also been helping me with planning my college visits and knowing what questions to ask professors.”
